QUIZZING RULES

Revised 01-10-2017

1. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE :

Bible Quizzing is another "youth setting" in which God may become more meaningful to persons who expose themselves to the Scriptures in study and expression. The team experience of quizzing and practicing offers further opportunity for close spiritual and personal fellowship and prayer. The expression of persons who have quizzed provides ample support that this "setting" with its limitations and problems, can be used by the Spirit. The sportsmanship and attitudes of the staff, coaches, and team members are crucial to making this experience being a positive one for all involved.

2. LEAGUE ORGANIZATION :

- A. Area Leagues or Combined Area Leagues : Quizzing may be done on the area level or by combining several areas, depending on the interest and number of teams quizzing. The area coordinator is in charge of the overall program. He appoints the quizmaster or quizmasters for the quizzing season. During the season, it is best that each team quizzes at least once against every other team in the league. When this is not possible, the quiz coordinator will decide how the league schedule should be set up.
- B. Finances : Each team pays an entry fee for the season. This amount is determined by the area quiz coordinator. Accurate financial records are kept by the quiz coordinator. An offering may be lifted at each quiz meet to help pay for the expenses. League quizzing should be self-supporting. Awards should be purchased from this fund. Each area church will be responsible for their own expenses for travel to the Invitational Tournament.
- C. Awards : The quiz coordinator shall give awards in their league as he determines. These may be scholarships, trophies, certificates and/or cash.
- D. Atmosphere : A quiz meet should appropriately begin with prayer. The electronic equipment should make quizzing exciting. Cheering is in order, depending on the location of the meet. Coaches are asked to display a positive example and attitude for their teams and the program. The sportsmanship and attitudes of the team members and the coaches are crucial for making the quizzing season a spiritual experience.
- E. Quiz Match : Consists of two teams (each with four quizzers at a time) competing against each other in a 15 question match. Optional : the last several questions will be from any of the previous material covered so far that year.
- F. Team Requirements :
  1. Each Team is composed of no more than six quizzers, four regular and two substitutes and a coach or coaches. A team may have up to eight quizzers on their roster but only six may quiz in a single match. These must be listed on the lineup given to the scorekeeper that night. Additional quizzes the same evening may have a different six quizzers on the roster.
  2. The coach is responsible for giving the team lineup to the scorekeeper before each match.
  3. A church youth group may have more than one team. Each group decides how they will select their team(s). In some cases two churches may form a team together or youth from other denominational churches may participate, subject to the quiz coordinator's and ACC Conference's discretion.
  4. For invitational and other extra-league meets, a team is defined as a group which has worked together all season. (Exceptions should be approved by area coordinators.)
  5. Quizzers must be in 7th grade and not older than 20, as of January 1st of the quizzing year.
  6. Each quizzers is required to display a name tag during each quiz match.
- G. League standings: There will be no forfeits. The team that does not show without prior notice is penalized 20 points and the match is rescheduled. Ranking is by total points earned, not win/loss record.

3. STAFF AND EQUIPMENT:

- A. Quizmaster: He is the single most important person in how effective the quizzing experience will be. Faulty procedure in any area will result in poor quizzing. He must know the material and rules well. He must read the questions ahead of time for accuracy and sense. It is helpful for the quizmaster to meet with the judges before the quiz to review the questions together. Questions are asked by the quizmaster. Ultimate control of the quiz match is in his hands. He shall call fouls. He must be sure to read loudly enough. He should be "in charge" without being inflexible. On the other hand, indecision can ruin a quiz match. Be careful not to go too slow or too fast. Each question should be preceded with "Question number ____." Chapter and verse should not precede the question. The quizmaster should confer with the judges when a question or answer is in doubt. When other than objective questions are used they will be announced as such before the question is asked.
- B. Judges: They determine the accuracy of an answer along with the quizmaster. They follow each question to see that it is read correctly. They inform the quizmaster of any violation of the rules by either team. They help to judge the correctness of any answers in dispute by either team. They help judge the validity of contests made by either team. This is best done by consensus of the judges and the quizmaster. If a consensus cannot be reached, a majority vote will determine the right action to take. Two judges are sufficient.
- C. Timekeeper:
Watches the timer for the following:
1. 5 seconds for a quizzier to respond by pushing their button.
  2. 5 seconds for a quizzier to start answering (any intelligible word) after pushing their button.
  3. 30 seconds for the quizzier to answer after he has pushed his button.
  4. 30 seconds for a time-out.
- The timekeeper is responsible to see that the equipment is in working order, watches for any malfunctions, and informs the quizmaster immediately if there is a malfunction. He will also inform the quizmaster of any rule violations.
- D. Scorekeeper: They keep an accurate record of the number of correct and incorrect questions answered by each quizzier, individual and team scores, errors, fouls, time-outs, lineups, and substitutes. They inform the quizmaster of violations, quiz outs, and err outs. They will also inform the quizmaster and team coach when a team uses their third time out. A whiteboard or other means can be used to keep an unofficial running team score so that the audience can see the progress. Official score sheets shall be used and filed for permanent records.
- E. Equipment: Eight chairs, four for each team; table with a paper or cloth screen in front of each team; table for the officials; hand operated electronic quiz equipment; official score sheets; extension cord; podium for the quizmaster; a means of displaying the score for the audience.

4. QUESTION COMPOSITION :

- A. Coordinators for each area will take turns being responsible to see that the questions are written and in the hands of the other coordinators by December before the quiz season begins.
- B. Questions are all objective unless announced otherwise. Optional types of questions which could be used in addition to objective questions are:
1. Review questions - taken from previous material
  2. Memory - taken from a preannounced passage
  3. Subjective - taken from a commentary chosen by the area league
  4. Situation - multiple answers, example: Who said this and to whom? followed by a statement. These may come from any verse in the conversation. But will begin at the beginning of a statement.
- C. All questions will be based on the English Standard Version (ESV) 2011 Text Edition.

5. ANSWERING :

- A. From the time the quizzer has pushed the button the quizzer has (1) five seconds to start answering (any intelligible word); (2) thirty seconds to finish objective and situation or memory answers. If the quizzer responds before the question is finished, the quizmaster stops reading the question immediately. The quizzer need not finish the question.
- B. The quizzer only has one try at the answer. The first answer is the one counted. A quizzer may change a word or phrase if the quizzer does so by interrupting themselves before completing the answer. If the quizzer's first answer is correct or incorrect the quizmaster need not wait the 30 seconds but may rule it immediately.
- C. 2/3 Ruling: an answer is not incorrect until a quizzer gives wrong information. Therefore, if the 1st part of their answer is wrong, it should be judged incorrect. If the 1st and 2nd parts are correct and the 3rd is incorrect it will be judged correct. The 2/3 ruling applies only to a list or people when a specific number is not asked for in the question.
- D. Situation questions: When a quizzer answers the first part of a situation question incorrectly, and continues with the second part, the quizzer may not go back to correct the first part of the answer and will be judged incorrect.
- E. Questions or parts thereof cannot be repeated after a quizzer has pushed the button. All bonus questions will be reread completely but cannot be repeated.
- F. If a question is answered incorrectly or not at all, the corresponding quizzer on the opposing team has a chance to answer the same question as a bonus question. The question is read again for the bonus. In the event that the answer was given as a second answer or at the discretion of the staff a new bonus can be given. (See 6.B in the event of a vacant chair.) The same time limits apply to a bonus answer.
- G. A quizzer will not be required to provide an answer if they push their button prior to the start of the question. Announcement of the question number is not considered part of the question. A question will be considered started as soon as the quizmaster begins the first word of the actual question. In the case of a situation question, the question is considered started with the "Who" of "Who said this and to whom".
- H. All answers will be based and judged on the English Standard Version (ESV) 2011 Text Edition.

6. ERRORS :

- A. Any incorrect answer to a regular question is an error. (Does not apply to bonus questions.)
- B. After three errors, a quizzer is ineligible to answer any questions. This is called an err out. Before the next question is asked, an erred out quizzer may contest or call a time out. The erred out quizzer does not have to leave the match. A time out is required to remove the erred out quizzer from the match, the chair will remain empty for the remainder of the match. The quizmaster or scorekeeper will inform the coach that the quizzer has erred out. It is the responsibility of the coach to inform the quizzer that he cannot answer any questions. If the quizzer does push his button, a foul will be called. The quizzer may not be replaced by a substitute. When the erred out quizzer would have opportunity for a bonus question, the quizzer on the next lowest chair answers. (i.e. 1 - 2, 2 - 3, 3 - 4, 4 - 1) An erred out quizzer may not contest or call a time out after the next question is started or any time after that. In the event that this happens a foul will be accessed.
- C. Failure to start the answer (any intelligible word) within five seconds or failure to complete it in 30 seconds results in an error.
- D. Scoring less than 5 in a memory or subjective question results in an error.

7. SCORING :

- A. A correct answer counts 10 points on all regular and bonus questions.
- B. A quizzer receives an additional five points for quizzing out.
- C. A quizzer quizzes out after scoring thirty total points. The quizzer may be replaced by a substitute or may choose to remain in the match. Time is given after each quiz out for a substitution to be made. It is not an automatic time-out. A quizzed out quizzer that has been replaced by a substitute, may not reenter the match. If the quizzer remains in the match, he may only answer bonus questions. Points from bonus questions answered by the quizzed out quizzer will be team points only and will not be counted toward the quizzer's individual score. The quizzed out quizzer may not change chairs, even during a time out, but may contest and call time outs.
- D. Five points are deducted from a team score for each error, starting with the fifth error.
- E. Five points are deducted from the team score for every foul.
- F. Twenty bonus points are awarded to a team when four different members of the team have answered a regular question correctly. (Bonus questions do not count.)
- E. For tournament matches, in case of a tie, three questions will be asked. Each team will be given one additional time out. If a tie remains, one question at a time will be completed, until the tie is resolved. The tie may be resolved with a correct answer, or with the reduction of points due to fouls or too many errors. In any case, the question and bonus (if required) will be completed before the match is called.

8. TIME OUTS :

- A. Each team is entitled to three 30-second time outs. Only the quizzers may call a time out. Coaches may approach the team when the time out is acknowledged by the quizmaster. The scorekeeper will inform the quizmaster and team coach when the third time out is used. No foul will be called if a team calls a time out by accident. (In the event of a quiz on the stage or other location where it is difficult for the quizzers to see the coach(es), the coach may signal the time out to the quizmaster.)
- B. Time out must be called for quizzers to switch chairs. Quizzed out quizzers may not switch chairs. (See 7.C) A time out must be called for an erred out quizzer to leave the match (See 6.B)
- C. Time outs may be called back to back
- D. Time outs are not official until the quizmaster recognizes the time out. A time out cannot be used to block a contest. If a team wants to contest, the contest will be heard and ruled before the time out is granted.
- E. No time outs may be called after the next to last question in a match.
- F. The quizmaster may call technical time outs - (these do not count against the teams). No time-outs may be called after the next to last question in a match.

9. SUBSTITUTION :

- A. A substitute may replace any quizzer during any time out. The quizzer replaced becomes a substitute.
- B. A quizzer may not be replaced after he makes three errors. (See 6.B)
- C. A quizzed out quizzer that has been replaced by a substitute, may not reenter the match.. (See 7.C)
- D. Quizzers may change their positions during a time out. A quizzed out quizzer may not change chairs, even during a time out

10. CONTESTS :

Either team may contest a decision subject to these rules:

- A. A request for a contest must be made to the quizmaster, then the staff will entertain the contest. Frivolous and unwarranted contests may be thrown out by the quizmaster. A contest must be made immediately after the quizmaster's decision. A quizzer may request to hear the complete question only for the purpose of determining if they want to make a contest.
- B. No contest is allowed following a time out.
- C. The team not contesting will be given the opportunity for a rebuttal at the time of the contest.
- D. Contesting and rebutting may be done by only one of the four quizzers in the match.
- E. No further contesting is permitted after the decision has been reviewed. If a quizzer continues the discussion, a foul will be called.
- F. Both questions and answers may be contested. Bonus questions and answers may be contested also.
- G. Blocking is not contestable by quizzers. (See 11.B.7)

11. FOULS :

- A. Fouls may be called on quizzers, substitutes, or coaches.
- B. Fouls are called for:
  - 1. Communication between quizzers and/or coaches from the time "question" is called and the answer is judged right or wrong. Any quizzer talking on the bench, from the team quizzing or others sitting on the bench. If the team is coached by more than one coach, they may confer together quietly.
  - 2. Conduct that is unsportsmanlike or not in the best interest of the quiz. One warning may be given.
  - 3. Attempting to answer a question when a quizzer's light is not on. No error is given to the quizzer attempting to answer. A foul is given to the team. The quizzer whose light is on is given thirty seconds to answer the question.
  - 4. Pushing the light after a quizzer has quizzed out or erred out. (See 7.C & 6.B)
  - 5. More than one quizzer contesting.
  - 6. Open Bibles or study material by quizzers, coaches or others on the "bench" or by quizzers at the table.
  - 7. Intentional erring, or blocking, on questions during a quiz to keep the opposing team from getting their team bonus or a member quizzing out. In the event there is an intentional error, in the opinion of the quizmaster and judges, a 5 point foul will be assessed and a new question will be asked.
- C. Five points are deducted from the team for every foul.
